British Politics.

Several events of the utmost importance for the home rule cause have occurred within the past ten days. The enormous mass meeting in Hyde Park proved con clusively that whatever Lord Salisbury' administration may think about necessity of coercive measures for Ireland the London workingmen of all classes are sincerely and enthusiastically opposed to This is a remarkable fact for the reason that the great metropolis has usually been regarded as the stronghold of tory government, that Disraell always relied upon the support of the London "conservative workingmen," and that the real atti-tude of English working classes toward the Irish agitation had never before been clearly demonstrated. So much for London opinion, and the provinces have been by no means behind, hand.

The New York Times correspondent, in London, who has access to special information on Irish matters, endeavored to follow the various anti-coercion meetings, and thus describes the result: "I started on Tuesday keeping track of the anti-coercion mass meetings reported in the provinces for this single week. By Thursday the task had become as hopeless as it would have been a few years ago to count the gather ings in Ohio during the last fortnight of an October campaign in a Presidential year, Some of the features, like the wonderful reception given to Lord Spencer in erstwhile tory Plymouth, and the courteous attention paid to Irish members, some of whom were at these meetings every day, were absolutely phenomenal in the history of insular politics,"

Mr. Chamberlain, who, until very recently, has been the received high priest of North of England radicalism, met with violent opposition wherever he attempted to address any large gathering during a tour which was expected to prove a trium phal procession

Sir George Trevelyan, who seceded from Mr. Gladstone and his friends upon the home rule measure has returned to his allegiance, heralded by a long letter against coercion, which is described by an unsympathetic observer as "perhaps the most effective protest yet heard against the gov

The Healy-Saunderson emeute has brought out in a wonderful mauner the real sentiment of the press and of the mor educated classes, generally supposed to favor any amount of violence toward Irish agitators, with an almost universal con currence of opinion that Saunderson richly deserved the treatment received from Messrs. Healy and Sexton.

Earl Spencer, who, as lord lieutenant in most troubled times, had ample opportunity for knowing the facts, emphatically denies the statements of Mai. Saunderson and affords another proof of a continuation to the Irish national cause of that assist ance which has proved a tower of strength Altogether it may be received as certain

"as proofs from Holy Writ" that the educa tion of the English masses, promised by Mr. Glad-tone, has commenced, and that by the time either of the great political parties of Great Britain is prepared to bring in another measure for home rule, which will setisfy the Irish members, the English members shall have received orders from their constituencies to carry it through.

Threatened Commerce.

The Hon. N. E. Worthington, represent stive of the tenth Illinois district in the forty-ninth Congress, in a brief filed with the interstate railway commission, most tersely stated the proper interpretation of the interstate commerce law. He said:

I assume that it was not the intention of Congress in passing the interstate commercial law to wreck weak, struggling, local railroads, not to compel them to abandon through freight unless they would consent to local rates so low as to be ruinous. I assume, also, that it was not the intention to prevent the successful ap dication to the carrying trade of just and well-established business principles, nor to revolutionize fair equitable, and long-practiced business methods, nor to take away the benefits of competition in transportation which cities and communities have struggled for years at great expense to secure, nor to de stroy the prosperity of commercial centers, that is due to their geographical position, combined with the enterprise and liberality of their inhabitants. I assume, with equal confidence, that you, as the interpreters and ad ministrators of this law, do not desire that these results shall follow in the wake of your administration. And yet it cannot have es-caped your notice that widespread apprehenaiou aircady exists, and that vigorous efforts are aircady directed to warding off these un-intended but no less disarrous consequences of a rigid enforcement of section four of said

It is fair to suppose that Congress did not intend to wreck railways, to ruin com-munities, to destroy private property, to mpoverish whole sections of the country. to break down manufacturing interests, to give foreign traders the advantage over home ones, to discriminate over one port in favor of another, to advance the inte of the Cauadian railways or to re-enact the civil rights bill, yet it did all these things when it passed the bill entitled "A bill to regulate commerce."

Mr. Worthington, in his brief, representing the board of trade of Peoria, and one of its eastern connections, shows all this very conclusively. The NATIONAL REPUBLICAN did the same thing before the passage of the bill, warning Congress of the certain the commissioners, as the interpreters of the law under the proviso of the fourth ection, suspend that section, not for a few roads, but for all the railways of the country, and keep it suspended until Congress convenes and repeals it, still greater

The Cardinal Virtues The cardinal virtues, according to the ac-cepted idea, are fortitude, temperance, prudence, and justice, and there is no seeming! good reason why any one of them should be selected over the others on which to found a political party. And if this were to be one it would seem that "justice," which is immutable and unchanging, and, as Cicero said, "the same thing in Rome to-day and in Athens to-morrow," would be the one virtue selected.

While all men claim to desire justice, and all civilized nations to be founded in just ice, though in both instances the claim is far from true, there is no body of men tha arrogate to themselves, unless the Mugwumps are an exception, the claim to represent justice, and that it is embodied in them as the Spirit was embodied in the Divine man for the redemption of the world, and that all who do not agree with them are unjust.

This is not true of temperance, for we find that a very small percentage of the population of the world have arrogated to hemselves the title of temperance people, and they are so intemperate in their claim, that they deny to every one who does no accept the dogmas they procealm any right to speak on the subject.

In this country they have formed a polit cal party with temperance as its only article of faith, and are running a muck against all who differ with them in their interpretation of the word.

The NATIONAL REPUBLICAN can see without at all straining its vision, the cvils which flow from the inordinate and improper use of alcholic liquors, and would e glad to see that use restrained to proper limits, but it can see other evils possibly as great in misdirected efforts to accom plish what is miscalled temperance.

Take for instance the intemperate abus by the temperance men of New York of those who favored high license for the great cities of New York and Brooklyn as a means of reducing the evils of the poor in those cities, and the singular union between these so-called temperance advocates and the saloon-keepers to prevent the passage of the high license bill. And, as another, take the condition her on yesterday, when, deny as they may, it was because of the action of these temper ance men persons engaged in some of the cessary avocations of life were denied th right to pursue them, and thus deprived of the means of livelihood.

Webster defines temperance to be mod ration; but there is no moderation in such action. Besides which there is no sense All reforms are gradual. Men improve step by step, nearly each generation being in advance of that which preceded it. And temperance must come in the same way.

Earthquakes. Prof. F. L. Capen should retire. On April be predicted an earthquake in New England for the 10th. One of our local contemporarie recommended him as a very superior prophet On the 10th came report of two tremendous shocks of earthquake in Vermont, and our local contemporary exclaimed over it and recommended Prof. Capen to the President for a seismic appointment. On the 11th came the news that the earthquake was caused by the explosion of nitro-glycorine works. Caper should go to Canada.—Post.

Our neighbor is mistaken as to what Prof. Capen predicted. If it will examine the files of the NATIONAL REPUBLICAN It Will find in that paper of the 8th instant the fol-

EDITOR NATIONAL REPUBLICAN - I hasten ! give you the next strong earthquake period: April 7th to 17th; critical days, from 10th to 13 h. Its forces are rather intense and concen trated—i. c., grouped closely together; pernaps not quite so severe as some that have occurred within the past year. Ever and traly yours, BOSTON, Apr. 2, 1887. F. L. CAPEN.

There is nothing said about "New Engand" or any other specific locality. Merely that earthquakes would occur within the period named, and then, if the Post will examine its own columns in the issue of the 2th, it will find a dispatch from Ch . C., dated the 11th, stating that there was a distinct earthquake shock felt in tha city and section on that day.

Prof. Capen said from the 10th to th 13th were the critical days, and on the 11th the "quake" came. No prediction could be more clearly verified, and Prof. Capen, instead of going to Canada, should be brought to Washington and placed, as the NATIONAL REPUBLICAN suggested, in one of the scientific bureaus.

In view of the fact that his last prediction was absolutely verified, we had expected that our distinguished contemporary, as the organ of the administration, would have applemented the suggestion of the NATIONAL REPUBLICAN and urged the appointment of Prof. Capen, particularly as his knowledge of seismic science might enable him to give the indications as to the political earthquake that will shake up the Democratic party next year, and thus enable our neighbor to escape from any rickety political building that was in danger of tumbling into ruin.

David K. Cartter.

One of the most prominent figures in Washington life passed away when Chief Justice Cartter crossed the river of life to float on the ocean of eternity. For twenty. five years he has been a resident here, and his was no light hid under a bushel, but a life known of all men. There are very few of those who have been prominent before the public during Justice Cartter's life here who did not accord to him and his judgment the brightest consideration and respect. His advice on political questions, when he was in politics, and even after he went upon the bench was sought by the greatest leaders of the party-men like Lincoln, Stanton, Wade, Chandler, and Grant, and when given was always regarded. As a lawyer and judge Justice Cartter ranked among the first in the land, and as a man his character was without blot or stain, A strong partisan and one of the founders of the Republican party, he never permitted his politi cal opinions to blind his views of the law or to influence in the slightest degree his judicial decisions. Firm, kind, fair, he was a model on the bench. Genial, pleasant, witty without malice, he was a man beloved by all. Another judge may per form his duties equally well, but it would e hard to find a man who will fill his place.

A Bright Outlook. For the information of the stockholder f the Shellabarger Live Stock Car Company and others interested, we are permitted to print the following extract from a letter recently received from W. W. Herron, see

I am more satisfied now than ever that we will get our cars into use. I find that we have strong friends in the railroad people, the live stock shippers, and (the most surprising thing of all) in the dressed beef men. I have an ap-pointment for Friday with Swiff & Co.'s huyer of Omain to examine our ear. I think he will make a demand on the railroads to have their result of the proposed legislation. Nothing has occurred that it did not predict, and unless, as Mr. Worthington suggests, card to say that they purchase the very best cattle and that they are shipped in compart-ment cars to the slaughtering points and then orwarded east in cold blast cars. We are bound to get this trade, and this alone wi make our capital stock as valuable as any i

A Handsome Supplement.

A Handsome Supplement.
[RichmondWhig]
The supplement of the NATIONAL REPUBLICAN yesterday was devoted to the National Drill, which will take place in Washington, May 23-30. It contained very handsome engravings of the encampment, with troops on parade, of a number of the public buildings in Washington, and portraits of Governor Fitzbugh Lee, who, it is believed, will be selected for commandant of the encampment; of District Commissioner S. E. Wheatley, chairman of the association, and T. C. De Leon, escretary. Each of the portraits is accompanied by a biographical sketch.

AMUSEMENTS.

ALBAUGH'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

'Saint's and Sinners,' which will be produced at the Grand Opera House, beginning to-night, is a very pretty drama well told and well acted. Ittells the story of a daughter's faithful and steadfast love for her father, and her sufferings at the hands of an unprinciple's lover. The plot is a strong one, and the unfolding of the romance it contains proceeds in a way that carries the feelings of the audience irresistibly, finally setting fears at a rest by a happy finale. The cast is as follows: C. W. Couldock, Cedric Hope, Leslie Allen, Frank Norcross, Raymond Holmes, W. T. Meiville, John Matthews, J. McKeever, Edwin Hope, F. Dixey, Viola Allen, Sydney Cowell, Helen Creswick, Edwina Bland. The play will be produced with all of the original scenery, mechanical effects, properties, &c. ALBAUGH'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE, new national Theater. "The Main Line," the purely American drama by Henry C. De Mille and Charles Barbard, a love romance of the railroad and telegraph, with the most movel and realistic effects ever seen on the modern stage, will be produced at the National to-morrow night. The play comes with the indoresement of slong run at the Madison Equare Theater, New York, and has been well spoken of wherever presented.

KERNAN'S WASHINGTON THEATER. It was a strange fancy to call the company of forty beautiful young ladies "Night Ox s" who are to enlighten Kernan's during this week. Their specialties are not of the solemn order, not even the Quaker dance, deoure, at moments, as that may be. The march of the silver-armored Amazon sigmagnificent, while the sweet, the graceful, and the grand appear in songs, dances, and trapeze performance. A Jonis, a new buriesque, is ruddy and ripe with fun. Scenery of richest aind, and costumes of the most gorgeous, have been provided.

HARRIS'S BLIOU THEATER. HARRIS'S BIJOU THEATER.

MARKIS BLIOU THEATER.

Whatever scenic and mechanical effects can do, beautiful and appropriate costumes, an interesting drama, and performers admirably adapted to its interpretation, will be done each afternoon and evening of this week at the Bijou, in the presentation of "Romany Rye." THE DIME MUSEUM.

In its effort to scurre the best of good thing dramatic, the Dime, succeeding sometime only at a late hour, is unable, and is so now, to furnish information for an advance notice. But go there this afternoon, or to-night, or any other afternoon or night of the week, and you will find ample and satisfactory entertainment.

Lecture of Gen. George A. Sherida Gen. George A. Sheridan appeared on the stage at the National Theater last evening in company with Hon. John Sherman, who introduced him to the audience, which about one-third filled the house. Gen. Sheridan proceeded to repeat his lecture entitled "The Modern Pagan." Col. Ingersoil and his methods of dealing with Christianity were criticisted in forefible language, which seemed to have the very general approval of the audience.

Deserved Promotion Mr. Harry D. Howser, who was the ticke sgent at the Fourteenth street office of th Baltimore and Ohio railroad, has been as pointed to take charge of the office at 61 Pennsylvania avenue. The gentleman is very popular and has a troop of flends in this city who with be pleased to hear of his deserved

THE BON MARCHE, 316-318 Seventh St. N. W.

"THINGS ARE NOT WHAT THEY

BEEM," One of life's first and most import ant lessons is, that "Things are no what they seem," and that careful judgment, rather than impulse, should be our gulde.

"Life is arched with changing skies, Rarely are they what they seem; Children we of smile: and sigh-

Much we know, but more we dream." Tis now that announcements-disinguished by their bombast-spring forth from clothlers great and small telling of their gigantic Stocks of Spring Clothing, the grandest on the continent, &c., but if you visit their stores von learn that-

"Things are not what they seem." Our morning paper tells us that Jones s selling men's wool(?) sults for $3.00, but after one week's wear of such a suit you find that-"Things are not what they seem." Beautiful Spring Overcoats, all lined with satin, are advertised at $10.00, but one short trial of such a garment satisfies von that-

"Things are not what they seem." The inevitable "Removal Sale," Bankrupt Sale," "Dissolution Sale," "Installment Sale," and other like "baits" are advertised without stint, but-

"Things are not what they seem." Most every clothing dealer in the land mblazons his store front with "Fair Dealing" and "One Price" signs, but-

"Things are not what they seem." A pretty price ticket on every garnent in the window-without regard o the stock in the store-attracts some people, but it is wise to remember that-

"Things are not what they seem." Low grades of clothing are often the nest elaborately trimmed, and that is why we should not forget that-

"Things are not what they seem." Common printed goods, shoddy, an cotton warps are made so cleverly nowadays as to feel even softer that all wool, and often look finer, and this is still another reason why we should car in mind that-

"Things are not what they seem." Almost all clothiers offer to refund he money in case of dissatisfaction, but when you went for your money many of you discovered that-

"Things are not what they seem."

Most every little "cotton-back" clothier claims to manufacture all his goods, but it is the "claim," gentle reader, that he manufactures, NOT THE CLOTHING. Verily, verily, this is a wicked world, and the older we get the more we learn—the more we realize the truth of this little axiom-

"Things are not what they seem." And so we might go on to the limit of the space at our disposal-for the delusions in the clothing trade have no end-but it is sufficient that we cite a few of the most familiar "tricks of the trade" with which many of our readers are already acquainted. The moral of all this is, that clothing, like all other articles of merchandise, should be nurchased of a RELIABLE CONCERN Place no confidence in cunningly worded advertisements, and, above al place no confidence in your own judg ment, but go to a reputable house and be satisfied to pay the HONEST VALUE FOR EQUALLY HONEST CLOTHING. If you dare trust yourself in the lion's den, take a look some day through the stock of one of these "Bankrupt Sale 'sidewalk clothlers," then come and spend ten minutes in our store. The comparison will astonish you, and in the future you will be satisfied to go

Wonderful Popularity of the Renowned Medicine—The Greatest Curative Suc-cess of the Age—A Voice from the People.

No medicine introduced to the public has ever met with the success accorded to Hop Bitters. It stands to day the best known curative article in the world. Its marvelous renown is not due to the advertising it has received. It is famous by reason of its in-herent virtues. It does all that is claimed for it. It is the most powerful, speedy and effective agent known for the building up of debilitated systems. The following What it Did for an Old Lady.

COSHOCTON STATION, N. Y., Dec. 28, 1884. GENTS: A number of people had been using your Bitters here, and with marked effect. In fact, one case, a lady of over seventy years, has been sick for years, and for the past ten years I have known her she has not been able to be around half the time. About six months ago she got so feeble she was helpless. Her old remedies, or physicians, being of no avail, I sent to Deposit, forty-five miles, and got a bottle of Hop Bitters. It had such a very beneficial effect on her that one bottle improved he so she was able to dress herself and walk about the house. When she had taken the second bottle she was able to take care of her own room and walk out to her neighbor's and has improved all the time since My wife and children also have derived great benefit from their use. W. B. HATHAWAY, Agt. U. S. Ex. Co.

An Enthusiastic Endorsement.

GORHAM, N. H. July 15, 1887.

GERTS: Whoever you are, I don't know, but I thank the Lord and feel grateful to you to know that in this world of adulterated medicines there is one compound that proves and does all it advertises to do, and more. Four years ago, I had a slight shock of palsy, which unnerved me to such an extent that the least excitement would make me shake like the ague. Last May I was induced to try Hop Bitters. I used one bottle, but did not see any change; another did so change my nerves that they are now as steady as they ever were. It used to take both hand to write, but now my good right hand writes this. Now, if you continue to manufacture as honest and good an article as you do, you will accumulate an honest fortune, and confer the greatest blessing on your fellow-men that was ever conferred on mankind. TIM BURCH. An Enthusiastic Endorsement.

A Husband's Testimony.

My wife was troubled for years with blotches, moth patches and pimples on her face, which nearly annoyed the life out of her. She spent many dollars on the thousand infallible (?) cures, with not ling but injurious effects. A lady friend, of Syracuse, N. Y., who had had similar experience and had been cured with Hop Bitters, induced her to try it. One bottle has made her face as smooth, fair and soft as a child's and given her such health that it seems almost a miracle.

A Member of Canadian Parliament.

A Rich Lady's Experience. I traveled all over Europe and other foreign countries at a cost of thousands of dollars, in search of health and found it not. I returned discouraged and disheartened, and was restored to real youthful health and spirits with less than two bottles of Hop Bitters. I hope others may profit by my experience and stay at home. profit by my experience and stay at hom A LADY, AUGUSTA, ME.
